Global Watch Weekly Report

Welcome to the Global Watch Weekly Report

In this weeks edition of the Global Watch Weekly we take a look at the geopolitical context of the MH17 and MH370 tragedies in which two Malaysian airlines suffered tragic events. Still nobody knows what happened to MH370 and with MH17 there is still huge debate as to who was responsible for the shooting down of the airline.

Whilst the internet abounds with theories ranging from UFOs to the Bermuda Triangle to an inter-dimensional gap swallowing up MH370 we prefer to focus more on the global political chess maneuvering which has resulted from the tragic endings for both MH17 and MH370.

Enjoy.

MH AIRLINE ENIGMA

THE MH FORMULA

Inattentive readers might think the above title describes some kind of weird chemistry equation. But it doesn't, it's really what you might call a 'geopolitical formula'... for disaster!

The parallel, however, may hold if you're trying to understand the 'chemistry' of this wild world we live in. So knowing some of the 'formulae' and concepts behind 'geopolitical chemistry' might come in handy today.

In chemistry, certain elements and compounds are known as 'catalysers', very small amounts of which can trigger major explosions of large quantities of other elements and compounds. In today's whirling world of politics, we also have a myriad of 'catalysers' ready to trigger major explosive reactions.

Some such geopolitical 'catalysers' are well tested and engineered – False Flag events, for example, or major political assassinations. Others are of a far more opportunistic nature.

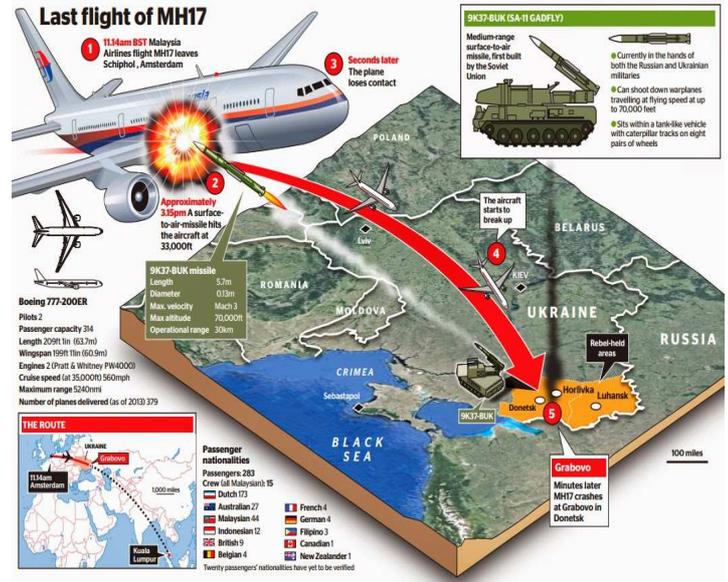

Here is where the above formula – “BRICS + 2B777 (MH370 + MH17) = WWII – might start making sense.

“BRICS” is the nascent geopolitical global alliance Russia and China are driving, in that core of countries made up of Brazil, Russia, India, China and South Africa. It is a direct challenge to Washington's unipolar 'New World Order'.

“2B777” are two state-of-the-art Boeing 777 passenger commercial jetliners.

“MH370” is a Malaysian Airlines flight operating a B777 (Reg. 9M-MRO) that on 8 March 2014 performed an unprecedented act of aviation

'magic' by disappearing without trace from the air, surface and seas of planet Earth.

“MH17” is a Malaysian Airlines flight operating another B777 (Reg. 9M-MRD) blown to smithereens on 17 July 2014 whilst cruising at 10,000 meters over a conflict zone in Eastern Ukraine.

“WWIII” is the Global Power Elite's highly explosive, exothermic sought-after result.

This formula also requires some additional 'mathematical' analysis, such as:

- The multi-billion dollar hull, liabilities and war risks insurance indemnities that are keeping the boys over at Lloyds of London worried and awake.
- Most importantly. What are the statistical odds that two identical Boeing 777 aircraft – both flying the Malaysian Airlines livery – should suffer such 'accidents' causing the death of over 530 people. Especially considering that airline's excellent safety record and maintenance standards.

MH AIRLINE ENIGMA

The potential economic damage these two high psychological impact airliner catastrophes are causing to Malaysia's national carrier is incalculable. Experience shows that terror attacks on airlines can have devastating economic impact:

Pan American Airways never recovered after Flight 103 was blown up over Lockerbie, Scotland on 21 December 1988, and went bust in December 1991. TWA (Trans World Airlines) too went out of business after its Flight 800 was mysteriously downed (some say by a 'stray' US Navy missile) off the coast of Long Island in July 1996.

Terrorist attacks of this sort are not good for business. Not surprisingly certain terror attacks were not classified as such by the Western media. For example, on 3 July 1988 US destroyer USS Vincennes shot down an Iranian Airbus A300 over Iranian airspace in the Persian Gulf. Result: 290 civilians dead including 66 children, which the US classified as "an unfortunate mistake." On 21 February 1973 two Israeli fighters blew up a Libyan Airlines Boeing 727 en route from Tripoli to Cairo over international airspace. Result: 113 civilians dead.

Oh, yes and if sought-for "WWIII" – World War III – is finally triggered, that would add some further 'Math' to this mad Dr. Strangelove-like formula in terms of a couple of hundred million – or billion? – dead worldwide through generalised nuclear and conventional war.

This latter aspect should not be understated considering the importance given to it by the Global Power Elite, as they themselves seem to hold in their cryptic 'Georgia Guidestones'.

JOINING THE DOTS

To understand the specific 'reaction' of this geopolitical chemistry involving two Malaysian Airlines jetliners requires addressing some unnerving and uncomfortable questions:

1) Why Malaysian Airlines?

Perhaps because Malaysia is one of the few Muslim countries outside the Middle East that takes a very strong and unequivocal stance against Israeli terrorism and Western aggression.

In 2007 former Malaysian Prime Minister Mahathir Mohamad established the Kuala Lumpur War Crimes Commission.

In 2011, the Commission found George W Bush and Tony Blair guilty of crimes against peace, crimes against humanity and genocide as a result of their roles in the 2003 Iraq War. Last November the Commission found the State of Israel guilty of genocide of the Palestinian people. Clearly, Malaysia points an unequivocal accusing finger at Israel, the US and the UK.

2) Why Flight MH370? This has become the aviation mystery to end all mysteries.

Unless we resort to some South East Asia Triangle reminiscent of the notorious Bermuda Triangle, there is plainly no explanation whatsoever for this state of the art B777 disappearing.

Unless it was hijacked or electronically commandeered and force-landed 'somewhere', keeping it ready for some 'future mission' once all the media hype finally died down. Could it serve as a 9/11-type false-flag drone to be used in some horrible 'terrorist attack' to be immediately blamed on Iran + Syria + North Korea + (why not?) Malaysia? All naturally 'backed by Russia'.

Was MH370 force-landed in the super-secret US military base on Diego Garcia Island in the Indian Ocean to be held 'on stand-by mode'? What exactly was Australia's role in its 'search' for the airliner, considering the Australian government is but a sad pawn of the UK and US?

MH AIRLINE ENIGMA

Was Operation 'Ram-a-Malaysian777-into-the-100th-Floor-of-Some-Western-Skyscraper' as a false-flag attack finally called off after it got too messy and risky in the media and at highest diplomatic levels?

It is worth recalling that in May Dr. Mahathir Mohamad upset the Global Elites by claiming crucial information about Flight MH370 is being concealed by the United States' Central Intelligence Agency. As reported by the Sydney Morning Herald, Dr. Mahathir Mohamad wrote in his personal blog that: "Someone is hiding something. It is not fair that MAS and Malaysia should take the blame." He pointed out that government agencies, along with Boeing, had the ability to remotely take control of commercial airliners. "Can it not be that the pilots of MH370 lost control of their aircraft after someone directly or remotely activated the equipment for seizure of control of the aircraft?" "For some reason, the media will not print anything that involves Boeing or the CIA," he said.

3) Why Malaysian Airlines Flight MH17?

In this case, we know this jetliner did go down tragically killing its 298 passengers. It was shot down right over Eastern Ukraine where in recent months Russia drew another of their non plus ultra Red Lines on the Western Powers, and promptly showed they mean business by reincorporating Crimea into Russia's sovereign territory.

Western leaders couldn't believe their eyes. Another Red Line like the one Russian President Vladimir Putin drew on them in Syria last year!

Yet another massive US/UK/NATO geopolitical failure. Only this time in the Ukraine where tens of thousands of pro-Russian separatists are fighting the central Ukrainian government because they DO NOT want to be under the control of a regime born out of a US-NATO sponsored coup last February, that placed their guys in power.

What if they could 'prove' to the world that pro-Russian 'terrorists' financed by Moscow shot a missile at a passenger jetliner blowing it to smithereens (guys: just make sure it's not one of our jets – KLM, British Airways, Air France, Lufthansa – but some jetliner belonging to a potential 'rogue state' on our list... like Malaysia, for instance...).

Obama, Cameron and Australia's Tony Abbott (along with FoxNews, CNN, BBC and the Murdoch press) all immediately pointed their fingers at Russia: specifically at President Vladimir Putin. "America has evidence that the Russians did it!" Yep... just like America had "hard evidence" of Saddam's WMDs in 2003 and Bashar al-Assad's chemical bomb in Damascus in 2013. Do these people not realise their credibility has plunged to unheard of depths?

Then on 21 July, Russian chief-of-staff Lt. Gen. Andrey Kartoplov officially presented hard evidence of two Ukrainian Su-25 jet fighters having fast climbed and approached MH17 within 3 kilometres just before it was blown up. In addition, satellite photograph sequences showed Ukrainian BUK missile launchers in the area over which MH17 flew. Russia has repeatedly asked the Kiev government to explain this to the international community. In addition it has asked the US to make public its own satellite evidence and to do as the Russians, and share it with the international community.

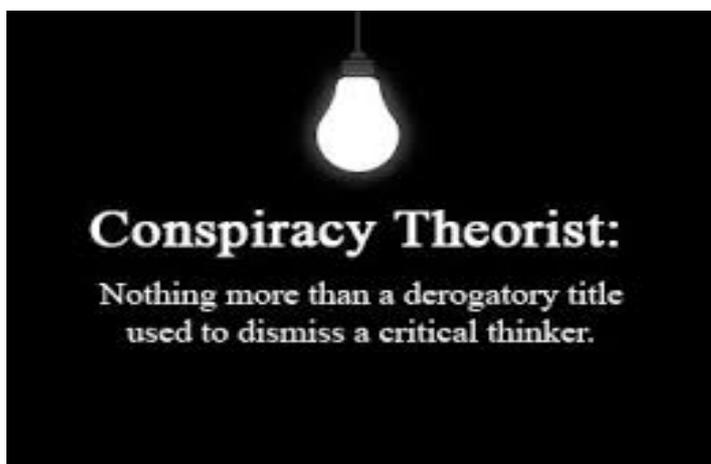

In fact, even though the Anglo-American controlled Ukraine and its Western pals have done every-thing they can to place the blame on Russia, they have been very sloppy at it.

MH AIRLINE ENIGMA

On 1 August, Russia's Defence Ministry revealed that satellite images Kiev presented as 'proof' that it didn't deploy anti-aircraft batteries around the MH17 crash site carry altered time-stamps and were taken days after the tragedy. It seems those images Kiev claims were taken by its satellites at the same time as those taken by Russian satellites, are neither Ukrainian nor authentic and were instead apparently taken by an American KeyHole reconnaissance spy satellite.

You see, the two Ukrainian satellites currently in orbit – Sich-1 and Sich-2 – were not even positioned over Ukraine's Donetsk region shown in the pictures. In addition, weather and lighting conditions in these images were not possible on the dates and times Ukraine claims they were made, and at least one of the images shows signs of having been doctored by image editing.

The boys over at Langley's CIA headquarters and in the NSA (National Security Agency) clearly need to recruit better and more experienced photoshop editors before they release their shoddy false-flag cover-up 'evidence' to the world.

For a while there, on the very day MH17 was shot down, there was even talk from the Russian Interfax News Agency that the real target could have been President Putin's IL96 presidential jet that flew over that same airspace on its way back from the BRICS Summit in Brazil. On that same day and at almost that same time. A matter that was later denied by the Russians. Understandably, it would be most embarrassing for Russia to have to admit this, as it would not speak well of the Russian president's own security team!

4) What then do they want?

Clearly, Mr. Putin and his team have won too many moves on the Global Grand Chessboard in recent times. By repeatedly neutralising the Global Power Elite's endeavours to fabricate an excuse to go to full war against Iran and Syria, and even a 'proxy' war with Russia (and China) Putin has sat like an albatross in the way of the Western wish to fully conquer the middle east militarily.

Ever since the Israelis were routed by Hezbollah (financed, trained and armed by Iran) in Southern Lebanon in 2006, Israel, the US and UK have almost continually threatened Iran with unilateral military attack but never got around to it thanks to Russia.

In Syria last year, Russia drew a Red Line that the US/UK/NATO/Israel dared not cross. The same now in the Ukraine.

Then, in July, the BRICS Summit made a very concrete decision to start building a new, alternative global financial architecture, by founding strong institutions not aligned to the Global Mega-Banksters. Capable of one day sweeping away the International Monetary Fund and World Bank, the BRICS initiative is a potential dagger pointed at the West's financial system.

US and European economic sanctions against Russia in the current economic climate are even

looking quite ridiculous

What 'economic sanctions' can you impose on a country like Russia which has the largest territory in the world (17 million square kilometres, that's one-eighth of Earth's land surface area), the largest oil reserves in the world, vast plains to feed its people, more gas than it could burn in a century (and the ability to close the gas pipeline valve to Europe and let 80% of NATO countries freeze to death).

Add to this, Russia's 144 million highly talented and resourceful population which is quite well distributed throughout its territory and you're faced with a practically inexpugible Sovereign Nuclear Super-Power.

And there's the fact that qualitatively and contrary to Americans who have become quite flabby, pampered and self-complacent after seventy years of 'destructive capitalist materialism', the Russians have suffered a lot in contemporary times: World War II, Communism, the 1990 Collapse... Suffering builds character.

But, talk about bones to dogs and war to warmongers, and you'll have them all howling and raging! Thus, the in between-the-lines message coming out of Western capitals today is very clear: "Damn it! Vladimir won't let us have our war!"

THINK TWICE BEFORE YOU JUMP!

The West's Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse would, however, do well to watch their step. It's one thing to wage war on militarily weaker Iraq, Libya and Afghanistan, or to bomb the explosive Balkans. And the 'Home of the Brave' should not be too proud of having waged war on Panama, Grenada or in the killing fields of Vietnam (where they lost!), either.

But if you decide to go to war with Russia, you had better think twice before you jump! A little bit of advice: pick up your history books! Re-read what happened to Napoleon and his Grand Armée when they trespassed into the Great Russian Empire at the beginning of the 19th century.

Closer in time, take another look at the Third Reich. In 1941 Operation Barbarossa drove the Wehrmacht deep into the former Soviet Union, by 1944 to the very doors of Stalingrad, Leningrad and Moscow, and then look at what happened.

Americans, Britons, Australians, along with all the anti-Russian cheer squad, would do well to learn from history. Messing around with Russia is not child's play. It's serious geopolitical stuff.

So, put away the Trilateral Commission geopolitical hogwash, and re-read what British geopolitical strategist Sir Halford MacKinder had to say about Russia in his Democratic Ideals and Reality: A Study in the Politics of Reconstruction, published just when World War I ended:

"Whoever rules East Europe commands the Heartland; Whoever rules the Heartland commands the World Island; Whoever rules the World Island commands the World."

Extrapolating, MacKinder's "World Island" is Eurasia from which planet Earth can be fully controlled. The "Heartland" is the geopolitical centre of that World Island, and since WWII "Eastern Europe" is controlled by Moscow. And where does that leave Washington, New York, London, Brussels... Clearly, we live in very dangerous times.
